Donnie Lou Speer (“Donnie Speer”) moves for withdrawal of the reference of this case pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §157, Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 5011 and Local Bankruptcy Rule 5011-1.

SUMMARY OF MOTION

1. The determinative factor in deciding whether to withdraw the reference is whether a party has demanded a jury trial. The Trustee has asserted legal claims against Donnie Speer to which she is entitled to a jury demand. Donnie Speer timely filed a jury demand. Donnie Speer is not a creditor in the bankruptcy case, has not filed a proof of claim or otherwise waived here right to a jury trial. Donnie Speer has preserved and asserted her right to a jury trial and this Court should recommend withdrawal of the reference.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

2. On April 28, 2011, Rodney Tow, Chapter 7 Trustee (the “Trustee”) filed his Original Complaint. The Original Complaint seeks monetary damages from Donnie Speer under 11 U.S.C. §§ 544, 548 and 550, and various Texas and Delaware statutes.

3. Donnie Speer timely filed her Jury Demand on May 27, 2011.¹

4. Donnie Speer has not filed an answer to the Trustee’s Original Complaint. The deadline to answer or otherwise respond is May 31, 2011.

ARGUMENTS & AUTHORITIES

5. For cause shown, a district court may withdraw the reference of a proceeding from a bankruptcy court.² The Fifth Circuit has set forth the following factors to aid courts in determining whether sufficient cause exists to withdraw the reference:

² 28 U.S.C. § 157.

- Whether the subject claims involve core or non-core proceedings;
- Whether the subject claims are entitled to trial by jury;
- The economical use of the litigant's resources;
- The considerations of judicial economy;
- The need to expedite the bankruptcy process; and
- Whether a party has demanded a jury trial.³

6. These factors are not weighted equally. Of paramount importance is the defendant's right to a jury trial. As this Court found in Williamson, "In reviewing these factors in the proceeding at bar, it is evident that the one decisive issue is whether or not the Defendant has waived her right to a jury trial. The importance of this fundamental right carries such weight that the collective effect of the remaining five factors should not alter the final determination."⁴

7. In this case, like Williamson, the defendant's invocation of her right to a jury trial is determinative and analysis of the remaining factors is unnecessary.

A. Donnie Speer is entitled to a jury trial because the claims against her seek monetary damages.

8. As the Supreme Court stated in Granfinanciera, when determining whether a defendant is entitled to a jury trial, the court should examine the remedy sought and determine whether it is legal or equitable in nature.⁵ Where the claims are legal in nature, a party is entitled to a jury trial. Claims that seek a recovery of money damages are legal in nature.⁶

³ Holland America Ins. Co. v. Succession Roy, 777 F.2d 992, 999 (5th Cir. 1985); see also Johnson v. Williamson, 369 B.R. 322, 326 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2007).

⁴ Johnson v. Williamson, 369 B.R. at 326.

⁵ Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. 33 (1989).

⁶ Id.

9. The Trustee's claims against Donnie Speer for recovery of alleged fraudulent transfers, and possible claims for breach of partnership agreement, civil theft/conversion, and fraud/fraud scheme seek monetary damages, so are legal in nature. Since they are legal claims, Donnie Speer is entitled to a jury trial.

B. Donnie Speer has not waived her right to a jury trial because she has not filed a claim against the estate.

10. A party may be deemed to have waived its right to a jury trial. Courts have found that, under certain circumstances, filing a proof of claim may waive the right to a jury trial.⁷ In this case, Donnie Speer has not filed a proof of claim, has not filed counter-claims against the estate and has not otherwise waived her right to a jury trial on these claims.

C. The District Court should withdraw the reference because Donnie Speer does not consent to the trial of this matter in the Bankruptcy Court.

11. U.S.C. § 157(e) provides that the bankruptcy court may conduct a jury trial with the express consent of all the parties. Donnie Speer does not consent to the trial of this matter in the Bankruptcy Court.

CONCLUSION

12. The Trustee's complaint for money damages is legal in nature. Donnie Speer has timely asserted her right to a jury trial. She has not filed a proof of claim or otherwise waived her right to jury trial. Furthermore, she does not consent to trial of this matter in the Bankruptcy Court. Based on the cases cited herein and the Supreme Court's statement in Granfinanciera that the Seventh Amendment right to a jury trial should be liberally construed, Donnie Speer is entitled to a trial by jury.

⁷ Granfinanciera, 492 U.S. at 36 (affirming that a defendant who is not a claimant has a right to a jury trial).

PRAYER

13. Donnie Speer respectfully request that this Court recommend withdrawal of the reference of this adversary proceeding and granting such other relief as is just.
